Rodando en La Habana: bicycle stories

Directed by Jennifer Ruth Hosek and Jaime Santos Menéndez, “Rodando en La Habana: Bicycle Stories” tells of bicycling and community in Havana today, 20 years after the Special Period, when over one million Chinese bicycles were imported to Cuba to aid survival on an island suddenly without Soviet petroleum. The independent documentary first premiered to sold-out audiences and intensive media interest at the 2015 Havana Film Festival. Co-filmmaker Jennifer Ruth Hosek joins UC Davis for an evening of film screenings, and discussion.
